Why is it that one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repairthe trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not quite as well whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. #### COAXING A RAILROAD.

There is a feeling that Janesvi le does not get a fair deal on grain and stock shipments. Whatever inequalities there are, however, will exist un til it pleases the railroad companies to remove them.

DANE COUNTY SHIVERS

The idea that Wisconsin is divided into two parts-Dane county and the darkness beyond-has been taught in Madison schools for some years. Dane county children are reared in the belief that the earth and all the fulness thereof is theirs, politically speaking This belief is likely to be shattered during the next two years. Governor Scofield cannot see why Dane county men should hold more state offices than all the rest of Wisconsin put together. Neither can anybody else, outside of Dane county for that matter, but the governor is in position to emphasize his doubts and bids fair to put them in record.

The votes of some republican aldermen seem to be expected by Officer Hogan. Just why, it is hard to say Officer Hogan was given office by the republicans, to be sure, but his use of official power during the last two years has not been such as to lead republicans to advance him further.

The mailing of A. P. A. circulars to aldermen introduces an element of the farcical into the Appleby-Hogan contest. As an attempt to make votes for Officer Hogan it was a failure from the first. The democratic hand was seen too plainly.

The possibility that two Chicago police inspectors may be tried on the charge of helping thieves dispose of Miser Scrages $50,000 in bonds make us believe Justice has slipped her hoodwink. Her eyesight certainly is better than it has been for years.

The country is none the worse for the failure of such banks as have gene by the board during the last three weeks. Loose methods have been rebuked and business put on a sounder footing.

An easy solution of the pass question would be for legislators to agree not to be influenced by railroad courtesies. It seems strange that nobody has thought of this before.

Major McKinley has the right idea. He believes the office-seekers can rest until the debts of the ccuntry are put in a way to diminish rather than to increase.

In other words, considering the number of convicts in prison, the number of pardons and commutations granted each year, on the average, for twenty years prior to the beginning of this administration, was 25 per cent greater than has been the number of pardons and commutations granted by this administration."

A Blacksmith's Story

I was working as a blacksmith and horse shoer when my health failed to su h a degree that I was unable to do any work and was suffering greatly from kidney trouble and the whole nervous system seemed entirely beyond control. I tried many so-called remedies and employed several physicians with little or no be nefit. I then consulted M. A. In a very short time I was not only able to resume work as a blacksmith but also to stand under and shoe horses from morning until night with as little fatigue as in former years, and I did the work of a strong, healthy man a that winter.

LIVELY TIME AT THE JAIL LAST NIGHT.

Dr. Joe Whiting Works For Three Hours Over One of the Harrison Children, and Finally Saves Its Life-Little One Now at the Hospital

From 10 o'ciock last night until 1 o'clock this morning Dr. Joe Whiting kept the breath in the little body of one of the Harrison children at the county jail.

Morphine was doing its work but its effects were warded off by prompt medical attention.

After the babe had recovered erough he was taken to the hospital by the doctor.

The child was one of the four committee to the State school at Sparta by Judge Sale yesterday. The whole party had been before the court but the child that was taken ill escaped from the court room and ran away. The other three children and the parents were at the jail and at 9:30 o'clock Officer Hogan brought the one that afterward became ill down. Soon after his arrival he became ill and Sheriff Acheson telephoned Dr. Whiting. When the doctor arrived, he at once said that the child was suffering from morphine poisoning. Emetics were promptly given but the base was very sick.

Could Not Stand

He had lost all control of himself, and was as limp as a rag. When Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Taylor. Sheriff Asheson stood him on his feet, the emetics became effective the boy began to get better. For an hour he o'clock. was kept on the move by Sheriff Acheson and Dr. Whiting, not being allowed to sit still for an instant. Later yet he was taken out into the cool night air, and walked about for an hour longer. By this time he was much better, and he was then taken to the hospital.

How the lad got the morphine is a mystery, but had he been allowed to go to sleep, he would not have and silk lined, sold all the season for awakened except in the home be- $15 and $20; now go at $6.98. Bort,

One boy injured for life or killed, accounts for more than any possible amount of pleasure all the toy weapons in the world can afford. But more than that, the instincts of cruelty are nourished by such amusements, and we as a Humane Society feel that the evils and unkindnesses and enmities of life can be largely prevented by the careful training of children.

It has seemed wise to me, therefore, to recall the public attention to the following resolutions:

"Inasmuch as it is the quite common practice of many parents to furnish their children with guns of various kinds, real and imitation; and "Inasmuch as the free use of these toys tends to stimulate the germs of inhumanity in the children's breast; "We, the Janesville Humane Society, do hereby unite in giving voice to our disapproval of this custom. And we urge our fellow cit zens to co-operate with us, so far, at least, as to keep out of their children's hands anything in the way of firearms, as bows and arrows or other agencies of cruelty, until they have reached such an age as to be be able to use them with wisdom

"The habit of cruelty is usually formed in the earlier life-the disposition for sports which are cruel grows in time into a passion. On the other hand kindness can never be more easily encouraged or more permanently implanted in the li e of a man or woman than in childhood. For this reason we respectfully urge the mo'hers and fathers of Janesville to a sist us in this way in our work of preventing cruelty and inhu-MELISSA CHITTENDEN.

Lace and fur have always seemed incongruous when placed together, even when the lace was of the heavy, massive variety, but now that valenciennes is being used in combination with fur the incongruity is startling.

Sometimes he burns his fingers, as he not infrequently plays a leading role in the civil courts; but he fills a unique place in polyglot Gotham, and has been the means of making any number of bashful young people happy for spot cash. Here's another queer phase of the marriage business. A strange society has just been organized in this city, composed of young men and women who have decided to subordinate sentiment to science. In other words, they believe it to be a crime against society and future generations for certain persons to marry. So they have pledged themselves not to enter into any matrimonial alliance with any person whose family is subject to hereditary diseases that can be transmitted. This new order is called the Society for the Prevention of Hereditary Diseases, and its officers are in the Stewart studio | st. building in Fifty-ninth street. The president is a young woman, and the vice-president is a young man. The former says that the organization has started off with twenty members, but she hopes to lengthen the list rapidly, as the S. HEAR YOURSELF WINK.

The Phonendoscope That Detects Disease by Sound

You can hear yourself wink. A wonderful machine has been invented by which the hitherto imperceptible sound of the action of the eyelid is made clear and distinct to the ear. The invention is called the phoneacoscope. The new wonder was designed to be used by physicians and surgeons for detecting the presence of disease by sound. With its perfection it will be possible for the medical world to prepare a perfect chart which will enumerate the sound of every disease known, and to instantly detect that sound with an application of the phonendoscope. There will be no mistake or misconstructions in the matter of a diagnosis. The delicate instrument which those who are fortunate enough to catch a glimpse of now handle as carefully as if it were made of diamonds, consists of a circular or tympanum box of highly-polished metal. On one of its flat surfaces there are two apertures for the attachment of that number of little rubber tubes, each fitted with a tiny elbow nub to be placed in either ear. The other after being married, came to this counsurface shows a thin and senstive disk, try with her husband to better their which is readily thrown into vibration. The thin disk, being controlled by the compressed air of the circular box, is so sensitive that the faintest breath things in San Francisco, but none of upon the disk sends a wave current through the box, into the rubber tubes and against the ear drum of the listening person. Not only can this breath wife of a fisherman, who told her upon the disk be heard, but its force in many things and pointed the way to transit is multiplied a thousand-fold, so that when it reaches the ear it sounds like the roaring of a gale of wind at sea. Tapping the disk lightly with the fingers sends a sound into the ears like the tramping of many horses, and the wink of an eyelid gives forth a sound like the fall of heavy waters. By the arrangement of the rubber connecting tubes it will be understood that the ends can be put into the ears so that any one can hear himself wink or detect the sound of the most gentle breathing.

For the use of surgeons in the locating of disease is an ingenious contrivance, which consists of a second disk attached to the first, with a vulcanite rod fastened so that the area of ausculation may be extremely circumscribed. By adding the rod, the conduction of sound is only slightly diminished, and thus are combined the principle of the solid stethoscope with that of the tympanum. The rod usually attached to the instrument is about two inches long, but rods of greater length are often used in exploring cavities of the posed of her stock at good prices. If one of the larger rods be inserted in the mouth, the sound of swallowing can be heard, and the drop- where he is in the army. ping of the soft palate is plainly audible. Branched tubes are also furnished, by means of which a nummagnified sound at the same time. This

A Tree Turned to Iron.

A remarkable discovery, as narrated by Prof. Carter to the Academy of Sciences of Philadelphia was made lately near Three Tans, Montgomery alars. In the meantime the second man county, Pa. In a sandstone quarry at that place an iron tree has been found imbedded in the rock ten feet below the surface. The tree is about eighteen feet long and eighteen inches in diameter, and has been completely turned to iron, or rather to the iron ore known as brown hematite; and Prof. Carter accounts for the phenomenon by the fact that the shales and the sandstones in that neighborhood are covered with red oxide of iron, and sometimes with brown hematite. It is presumed that the iron ore was reduced by organic matter, and that it was made soluble in water containing carbonic acid gas; then, as the water holding the iron in solution came in contact with the tree the iron was precipitated on the latter, and there was an interchange of vegetable and mineral matter, so that the rocks were relieved of their coloring and the tree took

When You See It in Print.

A sensitive man is never so humiliated as when he is obliged to read his own proofs. Type mocks the writer. The sentence that in manuscript moved with the stride of an armed man or danced as a swooning strain of Strauss is now limp and lame. The phrase that glowed with color is now pallid. Sparkling wit is flat; sage reflection is jejune. The thought "Shall THE METHOD OF A GREAT I ever get the money for this?" is jostled by "Who would be fool enough to pay for it?"-Boston Journal.

LEADS A STRANGE LIFE.

A Woman Has Saved Money and Sent

Her Son to France. Fisherwomen are plentiful enough in many of the European countries, but in the western hemisphere they are certainly very scarce, says the San Francisco Call. There are said to be several of them at the fishing village near Moro Rock, but even they only do a certain part of the work. On the bay shore near Brooks Island is perhaps the only real fisherwoman in the state, for she does all the work from catching the fish to selling them to the people who eat them. Mme. Gerken is the name of the woman and she leads almost a hermit's life. In reality it is a hermit's life except when she goes on her semi-weekly trip to dispose of her stock. Her home and place of business is not a very inviting place, but it is certainly more so than the home of the men engaged in the same business who live in the vicinity. It is many years since Mme. Gerken took up the fishing business, and she is well pleased with her success. She was born in France, and, condition. But it was not long before she was a widow with an infant son to support. She worked at many them pointed the road to even comparative independence. By chance, when her son was 10 years old she met the a new business. But great as Mme. Gerken's success has been there are few women who would like to follow her example. She built her own home on the bay shore of land for which she pays $1 a month rental and went into the work the same as if she were a man. It did not take her long to learn to handle a boat and manage the nets, and, of course, her son was some help to her. Mme. Gerken was certainly not afraid of water, for she would go out in the worst kind of weather and put her boat through the waves with the greatest ease. For some reason she always made good hauls. As well as fishing in the deep water of the bay Mme. Gerken fished in the pools along shore for shrimps and lobsters and also dug clams. All is over ten years since Mme. Gerken went into the fishing business, and as a result she has sent her son to France.

A Bright Boy.

Robbie Murden, 9 years old, of Kokomo, Ind., has built a toy train, which operates on a circular track covering an acre of ground. The engine, in appearance and form, conforms to the modern railway locomptive, with whistle, bell and every necessary attachment. The train is propelled by the little boy, who sits in the cab, with his feet on pedals similar to those used in propelling bicycles. The small amount of power required to operate the train is surprising, the little fellow carrying four passengers around the track with ease. Robbie is earning a good salary in the passenger traffic, charging a penny a trip. The depot is provided with ticket office, waiting room and all modern conveniences .-New York Tribune.
